Analysis of the Balanced Scorecard as a strategic controlling instrument with an example from the insurance industry Dec 11 2021

Bachelor Thesis from the year 2007 in the subject Business economics - Business Management, Corporate Governance, grade: 1,7, University of applied sciences, Neuss (FOM Fachhochschule für Oekonomie & Management Neuss), 127 entries in the bibliography, language: English, abstract: In view of the growing competition, the increased change in customers' wants and the potential of new communication and information technologies, more and more companies are faced with the need to permanently adjust and further develop their processes, products and offer. To be able to exist in the market, a company must be in a position to recognise future developments early and include them in the strategy. A company should therefore use management instruments which make it able to adjust strategies quickly and communicate them transparently in the whole company. There is increasing criticism of the classical controlling instruments. It is argued that controlling is supposed to provide management relevant data for the management which do not only include financial historical information as so far, but also include future related non-monetary figures. Against this background the Balanced Scorecard (BSC) is becoming more important. It extends the previous focus on finance issues to assess the performance of a company with a range of other aspects and ratios. The customer perspective, the internal process perspective and the learning and development perspective are supposed to be considered equally next to the financial perspective in the BSC. The targets of this thesis are split into a main target and a sub target. The main target of this paper is split again into two parts: The first part of the main target is to show and to explain the relevant theoretical framework of the BSC, in particular to strategic controlling. The second part of the main target is to analyse the BSC as a strategic management system and to give an overview about this strategic controlling tool as it is seen in academic literature. The sub target of this paper is to provide a link between theory and practice by applying the theory to a current example taken from the insurance industry. The result is a recommendation for a BSC as a strategic controlling instrument for that specific insurance company. With this specific BSC for an insurance company comes also a tool for a well structured evaluation of the chances and risks involved with its application.

Organic Chemistry For B.Sc Ist Year of Various University of Rajasthan Oct 09 2021 It is a matter of pleasure for me to present this English edition of the book of Organic Chemistry for the students of B.Sc. Part-I. There had been demand for this book since long, but due to one or the other reason I could not fulfil the demand of my dear English medium students. Now with the grace of God and good wishes and encouragements from my students and friends this task could be completed. I hope my English medium students and teachers will like it. Salient Features of the Book : • It is strictly according to the syllabus, neither any extra matter is given until and unless it is very essential, nor any point has been left untouched. • In addition to the basic diagrams, some imaginary diagrams are also included which make the matter easy to understand. • In the end of every chapter few important points to be remembered are given which will help the student to revise the chapter at a glance. This will also help the student to revise the whole book on the day of examination paper. • The most important is its simple language which will help the student to understand and remember a so called tough subject like chemistry. • Every moment we have kept in mind that the book is for a student of Ist year who has to read so many other subjects also. So the matter given is concise and upto the mark which student can read, understand, remember and can efficiently solve the examination question paper to give excellent results.
